Assembly Delegates

Assembly delegates are elected by PNACAC voting members. The number of elected delegates is based on proportional representation according to the number of NACAC voting members from the Pacific Northwest region. NACAC Assembly delegates are elected for three-year terms. The Past-President shall serve as the Chief Assembly Delegate for PNACAC. The President and President-Elect also serve as Assembly delegates. Beginning with the 2014 NACAC National Conference, the Professional Development Chair will serve as an Assembly delegate.

Formula for Determining the Number of Delegates

The number of delegates representing each affiliate is determined by a formula in the bylaws based on the number of NACAC voting members. NACAC notifies each affiliate of its delegate count in the May 31st NACAC membership report. That number remains constant until June 1 of the following year. The formula described in the national Bylaws is as follows: Voting NACAC Members + President = Delegates.

$$20 - 99 = 2 + 1 = 3 \text{ total}$$

$$100 - 149 = 4 + 1 = 5 \text{ total}$$

After the affiliate grows to 100 NACAC voting members, one more delegate is added for each group of 50 voting NACAC members

$$150 - 199 = 5 + 1 = 6 \text{ total}$$

$$200 - 249 = 6 + 1 = 7 \text{ total}$$

There is no limit to the number of delegates a state or region can earn.

Delegate Conference Registration

NACAC supports the Assembly participation for each elected Assembly delegate with complimentary national conference registration. Delegates may also receive some financial support for their conference participation from their affiliates.

Assembly Delegate Responsibilities

The Assembly delegate responsibilities include acting upon amendments to the NACAC Bylaws, carrying out special assignments delegated to the Assembly by the voting membership, and electing members of the NACAC Board of Directors. The Assembly reports to the NACAC membership after each annual meeting.

October 9, 2016

NACAC provides an electronic communication list for all NACAC delegates to exchange information about relevant Assembly issues and business. In addition, several months before the Assembly, an Assembly Information Webpage is created on the NACAC website to provide delegates with information they will need to prepare for the upcoming Assembly meeting. Delegates should utilize both of these tools.

Assembly delegates are encouraged to suggest agenda items and propose motions in advance of the Assembly by using the forms provided on the web page.

Assembly meetings are held annually at the National Conference. Assembly Delegates are encouraged to propose agenda items for consideration and approval by the Board of Directors. A form for proposing agenda items is provided on the Assembly page of the NACAC Website. Delegates are also encouraged to propose motions in advance and to use the NACAC Leads List to "float" ideas motion proposals and obtain feedback.

Government Relations

4.13.07, 8.8.13

The Government Relations Committee sets annual goals and objectives to guide these efforts. Activities focus on the following issues: access to higher education, affordability of higher education, diversity as a factor in college admission, and support for the professional work of school counselors and admission officers.

NACAC's government relations goals are achieved through the work of NACAC staff and members, and through collaborative efforts with coalition partners.

Legislative Conference

The NACAC annual legislative meeting is held in late February or early March in Washington, DC in conjunction with LDI/Presidents' Council. The PNACAC government relations chair and other representatives from the region are encouraged to attend the two-day event for governance and government relations activities.

Participants attend legislative process and issue-based sessions, and are trained to meet with members of the US Congress to convey NACAC's annual priority focus.

NACAC's policy priorities are determined each year by the NACAC Government Relations Committee. The national committee relies on input from affiliate government relations chairs and committees to develop its annual priorities. Priorities generally consist of support for counselors and admission officers, support for need-based financial aid for students, support for early college awareness, and support for diversity in higher education.

times as well.

- While NACAC provides S/R government relations chairs with their primary lobbying tool (see description of the Legislative Action Center below), consider allocating dollars for printing of letters and brochures, telephone calls, and other advocacy tools.
- If planning to conduct a state legislative conference, allocations should be made to cover the cost of such events (e.g. meetings, travel).
- Establish a government relations network within PNACAC to create an opportunity for involvement and a telephone/email/letter writing network when it comes time to notify legislators of the association's stance on a particular issue.

- Become knowledgeable about NACAC resources:
 - NACAC provides an online Legislative Action Center that can be the primary tool for getting members involved in advocacy efforts. - Work closely with the NACAC staff and the national Government Relations Committee (GRAC).

Government Relations Committee

To the extent possible, the committee shall be comprised of one PNACAC member from each state in the region acting as liaisons between members from that state and the committee chair. The committee should strive to implement professional development programs in a variety of locations so members in all regions may have access to these activities. Such programming should address the needs and interests of both high school counselors and college admissions professionals. Programming should provide a range of knowledge – from practical basic knowledge for a new counselor to advanced knowledge for someone to advance in the profession.

Duties of the Professional Development Committee shall be to:

- Identify the professional development needs of PNACAC members.
- Create, present, and promote workshops and activities that address these needs.
- Work with other PNACAC committees to ensure a variety of opportunities for professional development.
- Create programs to consult with the Executive Board to insure programs fit the mission of PNACAC and serve PNACAC members.
- Request an appropriate budget for committee activities for the Executive Board.
- Monitor committee expenses in relation to the committee budget.
- Identify scholarships and grants that enable counselors to attend professional development programs.
- Educate PNACAC members and cultivate PNACAC membership through these programs.
- Encourage involvement with PNACAC, through committee work and event participation.

5.23.13

A conflict of interest occurs whenever an individual has a direct or indirect interest, financial or otherwise, in the outcome of any transaction or matter involving PNACAC. A conflict of interest also occurs whenever an individual has a relationship with other parties to the transaction or matter such that the relationship might reasonably be expected to affect the judgment of the individual in the particular transaction or matter in a manner adverse to PNACAC.

If an individual has a conflict of interest or potential conflict of interest in connection with any PNACAC transaction or matter, he or she must immediately notify the President or the Chair of the PNACAC Finance Committee, and disclose all the material facts concerning the actual or potential conflict of interest and his or her relationship to the transaction or matter at issue.

If the conflict of interest arises in the connection with the activities of any deliberative body, including, but not limited to the Executive Board, the Finance Committee, or any established planning committee making a financial decision on behalf of PNACAC, the individual with the conflict must immediately disclose the conflict to the other members of the body and the individual must not participate in the deliberation, consideration or vote on the transaction or matter at issue. A notation must be made in the minutes of any meeting at which deliberation, consideration or vote on the transaction or matter at issue is undertaken indicating that the individual with a conflict or potential conflict of interest was excused from the meeting during the time that consideration of the transaction or matter was undertaken, took no part in any discussion pertaining to the transaction or matter and refrained from voting on the transaction or matter.

With this adoption by the Executive Board of this policy, PNACAC has instituted a Mandatory Disclosure Policy under which each member of the Executive Board will be required, on an annual basis, to sign and submit a Conflict of Interest Mandatory Disclosure Statement to the President.

The President shall be responsible for enforcing the Mandatory Disclosure Policy and shall maintain and annually update a file of Mandatory Disclosure Statements (see below) signed by each member of the Executive Board.

In all cases in which the deliberative body considers a transaction or matter in which an insider has a perceived or actual conflict of interest, the deliberative body shall obtain and rely upon appropriate data as to comparability (e.g., compensation levels paid by similarly situated organizations; or quotes or bids from multiple vendors who perform the same or similar services as those being proposed by the organization in which the insider has an interest).

In all cases in which the deliberative body considers a transaction or matter in which an insider has a perceived or actual conflict of interest, the deliberative body shall adequately document the basis for its determination (e.g., evaluation of the individual whose compensation is being determined and the basis for determining that the individual's compensation was reasonable based on the comparability data; or evaluation of the services being proposed and documentation that the choice of a particular grantee was made based on objective factors).

Travel - General

2.6.13, 9.17.14, 12.4.15

PNACAC, a not for profit organization, is committed to fiscal responsibility and expects that all reimbursable expenses be reasonable and necessary, be supported with appropriate documentation and receipts, and comply with the following guidelines. PNACAC requests that reimbursement requests be submitted to the treasurer within 30 days of the last day of the travel and/or expense activity. The form (an excel spreadsheet) is available at <http://www.pnacac.org> under Executive Board.

The following list provides guidelines for reimbursable expense items incurred while traveling for PNACAC. Please note that not all of these items are reimbursable for all programs.

1. Transportation

Air Transportation: Travelers are responsible for making their own reservations. When making travel arrangements, travelers are requested to book the lowest available roundtrip coach airfare. Eligibility for such fares is often restricted. Travelers making first-class, last minute, or similar arrangements will be responsible for the difference in cost. Cancellations or penalties assessed for ticket exchanges are not eligible for reimbursement and are the sole responsibility of the traveler unless due to unanticipated changes to PNACAC's program schedule. Reimbursement requests for cancelled travel due to a family or similar emergency must be made in writing. Airfares in excess of $700 per ticket and any exceptions to these policies require the prior written consent of PNACAC's president or treasurer/finance committee.

- Travelers may submit requests to PNACAC for reimbursement once travel is booked, and need not wait until the travel is completed. Proof of purchase is required, which can be the airline's confirmation record to include the travel itinerary, date of purchase, ticket price and form of payment. Travel advances are available from PNACAC. Travelers needing special assistance are encouraged to direct their inquiries to the person at PNACAC responsible for coordinating the event in question.

Baggage: Reimbursement of the fee for one checked bag will be allowed to and from the event. Fees for oversized and/or overweight luggage are not reimbursable for personal baggage. If transportation of PNACAC materials for an event or meeting results in charges, those are reimbursable with prior approval from the President, President-Elect or Past-President.

Other Modes of Transportation: Travel by train or bus will be reimbursed for the face value of the ticket and, if traveling by car, PNACAC will reimburse individuals according to the current IRS mileage guidelines. The level of reimbursement associated with these alternative modes of transportation should not exceed the amount of the lowest available round trip coach airfare to and from the same site.

Ground Transportation: Travelers should use complimentary hotel shuttles, flat-rate airport shuttle services, or public transit when possible. Taxis or economical chauffeur services will be reimbursed if other forms of ground transportation are not reasonable.

2. Lodging

PNACAC will reimburse for lodging associated with PNACAC business. When feasible, PNACAC travelers should share rooms. When determining lodging rate to be reimbursed for delegates and board members for conference travel, rate will be based on the lowest hotel rate available at a conference host hotel or on-campus room rate and will be determined no later than the May board meeting for the upcoming fiscal year. The Secretary or Executive Assistant will inform all board members of the decisions within 15 days of the May meeting. PNACAC does not reimburse charges for pay-per-view movies, dry-cleaning (except in rare instances of extended travel), high-speed Internet connectivity, or other premium in-room services. Use of room service or mini-bars inside the room is discouraged and subject to the per diem cap. Telephone calls made from the room concerning association business are reimbursable. Travelers should avoid making direct or operator-assisted long distance calls from hotels.

3. Meal Allowance

The reimbursement allowance for meals (food and beverage), including tips, should not exceed $60 per day. This allowance can generally be viewed as allowing up to $10 for breakfast, $20 for lunch, and $30 for dinner. Tips should not exceed 20 percent. PNACAC will pay the meal expenses of only approved travelers. All requests for reimbursement should include itemized receipts. No more than two alcoholic beverages may be purchased with a meal under PNACAC reimbursement. Reimbursement for Meal expenses greater than $60 per day requires the approval of the President or Treasurer.

4. Miscellaneous Travel Expenses

Reimbursement for incidentals would typically involve parking (at non-valet rates where self-park is an option), commuter tolls, and tips for baggage handlers, housekeeping and other service personnel, and related travel expenses. Except as otherwise noted, expenses in excess of $50 per day require the approval of the president or treasurer/finance committee.

In May 2011, the PNACAC Executive Board approved the following policy with regard to member use of the PNACAC logo:

NACAC Grants

1.1.07, revised 10.7.10, 8.8.13

The National Association for College Admission Counseling, through its Imagine Fund, provides financial support for the NACAC Presidents' Council Grant program. The program provides funding for participation in professional development opportunities and to develop innovative projects.

Information and application materials are available at www.nacacnet.org, usually linked to the association's governance page.

While any individual may submit a grant application, it has been PNACAC's practice to submit one or two grant requests as a board. This has allowed PNACAC to emphasize those ideas that it gives highest priority. As a general rule, the president of PNACAC will:

- Coordinate the process of identifying prospective grant proposals.
- In consultation with the board, select which one(s) will be written.
- Complete the application(s) and collect the signature of PNACAC's president.
- Notify grant recipients if the Presidents' Council Grants subcommittee approves a submission.
- Ensure that the grant funds are utilized and proper records are kept.
- Make sure that necessary reports and receipts are submitted for reimbursement.

If more than one grant application is submitted from the PNACAC region, the president is asked by NACAC to prioritize the applications.

It is preferred that grant recipients submit all paperwork to the PNACAC treasurer for reimbursement by PNACAC and then the treasurer sends the paperwork to NACAC for settlement. Recipients can choose to submit paperwork directly to NACAC for reimbursement if they wish. In all cases, it is important to comply with NACAC's deadlines as failure to submit documentation on time will result in denial of compensation.

PNACAC has submitted a number of grant requests that provided support to help send people to PNACAC conferences, the NACAC conference or the Guiding the Way to Inclusion conference. In most cases, individuals using these funds have come from demographic groups who may lack representation in the regional or national association, such as rural or urban professionals or community college personnel. In the future, PNACAC may want to write grant proposals to fund special projects, such as one-day workshops for underserved professionals or translators to help Spanish-speaking parents at college fairs.

PNACAC College Fair Guidelines

7.6.07, revised 3.20.10

College Fair exhibitors play a major role in the success of each of our programs. - Booths are restricted to three representatives per booth.
- Recruitment is restricted to the parameters of the booth; representatives must stay behind the table/booth area when speaking with students and their families.
- Audio-visual equipment should not interfere with other exhibitors.
- Displays cannot exceed or obstruct the view of adjacent booths.

 - Key chains
 - Water bottles

NACAC National College Fairs

2.7.07, revised 8.8.13

The National College Fair Committees coordinates the various activities that take place in advance of or at our National College Fairs. Currently PNACAC hosts four national fairs: the locations are Seattle, Portland, Boise and Spokane. Each National College fair has a chairperson and local arrangements committee of volunteers.

- Promote the fair to the members of PNACAC.
- Assist NACAC in publicizing the fair through local and area media.

- Submit and sign an accounting closure statement as soon as possible after the conclusion of the fair. NACAC provides the statement and expense report to the chair each year.
- PNACAC provides a small subsidy to supplement the hospitality costs at the fairs.

NACAC agrees to provide:

Each affiliate serves as the official host for National College Fairs taking place within their region. A Letter of Agreement must be signed by the affiliate president, the NACAC Executive Director, and the NACAC President which clearly outlines the responsibilities of the local arrangements committee and NACAC. In exchange for the affiliates association's support of an event within their region, NACAC has created a revenue sharing formula.

- $2,000 per fair for the first 200 booths sold.
- An additional 10% of the member fee for early bird for each additional booth sold over the 200 minimum.

The Board's intention is to encourage cooperation between NACAC and the affiliates as well as the designated local college fair planning committee. The cooperative agreement also encourages the affiliates to actively promote these programs to its members as well as form a partnership between the local planning committee and the affiliate Executive Board.

The responsibilities of the NACAC staff are to:

Look for members that represent all areas of the organization membership. Include – high school, college, independent and community college members.
- Work with PNACAC Executive Board and Finance Committee to develop a realistic budget for conference planning and the actual conference.
- Secure conference site and keynote speakers as early as possible.
- As registrations are submitted, compare list to PNACAC membership. Encourage member schools to send attendees to conference.
- When determining scholarship recipients, look at past year’s attendees to be sure not to overlap.
- Include a list of conference attendees in the conference program.
- Be sure to find time to take pictures of award recipients, conference planning committee and Executive Board (outgoing and incoming members).
- Keep an on-going list of people to thank after the conference.
- Be sure conference sessions are evenly spread amongst high-school and college sides.
- Prepare agendas and minutes from each committee meeting. Keep these items to pass along to future planning committees.
- Work with local chamber of commerce to have material about the area to distribute to attendees.
- Work closely with conference site staff members. Be sure to keep copies of all contracts and correspondence. Know what their expectations are for finding out final numbers. Get insurance information from PNACAC Executive Board.
- Reserve blocks of hotel rooms for attendees. Be sure there are rooms reserved for PNACAC president and keynote speakers.
- Provide exhibitors with information about where to unload information.
- Go to area restaurants and request discounts for conference attendees to use take advantage of during the “dinner on your own” time.
- Coordinate CEU’s with a school. Find someone to complete paperwork for those requesting CEU’s.

- Provide voting cards in conference registration information. Work with membership chair to determine who receives the voting cards.

In planning for the annual conference, the conference chair shall inquire about the availability of complimentary hotel rooms as part of the conference contract. Such rooms, when available and depending upon the number of such rooms, will be accorded to the President, President-Elect and conference co-chair, in that order. In the event that comped rooms are not available at the convention site, the room of the President shall be paid for through the conference planning budget.
